Week beginning Monday, 31 October 2016

VALUE FOR THE MONTH: PERSEVERING

THEME FOR THE WEEK: 'THE MAN WHO MOVES A MOUNTAIN BEGINS BY CARRYING AWAY SMALL STONES' (CONFUCIUS)

It is important to think big and have a plan - this is your 'mountain'. It is also important to have good habits and to understand how best you might achieve your goals. All this quote from Confucius is suggesting is that you just need to do a little bit every day - read a little, exercise a little, revise a little, practice a little. Just do a little more than you have already done. It all adds up!

This half term is a very important one with a lot going on. It is very important that we project the right image in the community relating to our school, our ethos and our charitable work. Indeed, we have a dedicated charity week coming up (week beginning 28 November) and some great work has already taken place raising money for Haven House.

Lower School Sponsored Walk

Nevertheless, it is important that we all remain focused on our personal targets and do as much as we can for ourselves and for each other in class and around school. It is possible, and quite fulfilling, to work hard and be good at the same time as many of you show us on a daily basis!

Have a good week.

JACK PETCHEY AWARDS FOR SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

Congratulations to Salamatu Kamara 11C and Jake Chambers 8I, our September and October winners. Both have been awarded their Jack Petchey prizes for preparing excellent speeches for Open Evening, which they delivered from the stage to three sittings of adults and prospective new students in the main hall. Each put a great deal of time and effort into their preparations and spoke with confidence and clarity. Very well done to both of them.
